

GREAT ESCAPES

Three new answers to that relentless question: "Where should we go next?"

LUGENDA WILDERNESS CAMP

Far from the manic safari itineraries, the Lugenda Wilderness Camp adopts a more laid-back, intimate approach to wilderness vacations with eight luxury tents in the massive (we mean larger than Switzerland massive) Niassa Reserve in Mozambique. After a day of bird-watching and leopard spotting, return to city comforts like en-suite bathrooms and fine wines.

Lugenda.com

ICONIC SANTORINI

Greek-style cave rooms at Iconic Santorini double up as cosy love nests – the Cliff Suite with a private balcony and indoor grotto pool is tailor-made for amorous escapades. When you do pop out for some fresh air, catch the sunset over the Aegean Sea, which casts a golden film on the whitewashed Greek village of Imerovigli.

Iconicsantorini.com

VIVANTA BY TAJ

The tropical ecosystem of Rebak Island in Langkawi extends into the property with towering palm trees, timbered rooms and unobstructed views of the Senari Straits. The hotel also organises nature trails, art classes at Balik Village and chef-accompanied tours of local markets.

Vivantabytaj.com

INSTA CRUSH

Three food-heavy Instagram accounts we love (not just for the food)

Food Art: @leesamantha
What's on Samantha Lee's plate? Could be anyone from Maya Angelou to Hermione Granger. You won't hear any "don't play with your food" warnings from this mom.

Food Lit: @talkingfood
Every food pun you'll ever need. Use them sparingly though; not everyone responds kindly to 'Go Shawty It's Sherbet Day'.

Food Fight: @youididnoteatthat
Skinny women posing with greasy burgers upset this anonymous user so much, she dedicated an entire account to good-humouredly (caustically) picking on them.

COMPILED BY VATSALA CHHIBBER